ARRANGE CONVENTION CLERKS TO PRESENT | ITALY TO CHANGE HER PLEA TO CONGRESS OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

General Federation Committees at Work for Session in New York on May 23.

NEW YORK March 10 -Father Knickerbocker will tip his three-cornered hat 20,000 club women while 2,000,000 others throughout the United States and its possessions watch from afar the opening of the biennial convention of Federated Women's Clubs of the United States, in New York, on May 23.

Scarce a city or town in the United States, Hawaii, Porto Rico, the Philippines, or Panama but whose most prominent club women will journey to Gotham for the monster feminine meetings in the mammoth Seventh Regiment armory. This convention is looked forward to as one of the biggest and most important gahering of women liver

Every feminine and many a masculine problem will be considered from the moment Mrs. P. V. Pennypacker, of Texas, president of the general federation, bangs the block with her slivercrusted gave!, until the last argumentative female voice is stilled at the close of the sessions on June 2.

The list of subjects will include the price of peace and petticoats, the length of love and lingerie, women's spheres and women's tears, chops and chowder. paint and powder, babies, ballots, civic betterment and how to avoid crow'sfeet, the management of husbands and other hired help; war, divorce, and Notables To Speak.

The women want President Wilson to epen the convention. William Howard Taft, Miss Jane Addams, Mayor Mitchel, and other notables will speak. Mrs. John Hays Hammond is chairman of the convention's advisory committee. William Todd Helmuth is honorary chairman of the convention. Mrs. Francis D. Everest, of Chicago, is chairman of the program committee. Mrs. William Grant Brown, of New York, is chairman of the local biennial

The art, civies, home economics, and conservation departments are arranging special meetings of their own. Many smaller conferences and big and small exhibits of all kinds will be housed at the Hotel Astor. Some of the "small conferences" will include luncheons for parties numbering a mere 1,200 or 1,300 women.

The world's leading specialists in everything feminine will flock to New York either voluntarily or by invitation. The fluest physicians will talk to a constant of the fluest physicians will talk to be a constant of the fluest physicians will be a constant of the fluest physicians and the fluest physicians will be a constant of the fluest physicians and the fluest physicians are constant of the fluest physicians and the fluest physicians are constant of the fluest physicians and the fluest physicians are constant of the fluest physicians and the fluest physicians are constant of the fluest physicians and the fluest physicians are constant of the fluest physicians and the fluest physicians are constant of the fluest physicians and the fluest physicians are constant of the fluest physicians and the fluest physicians are constant of the fluest physicians and the fluest physicians are constant of the fluest p exhaustively and exhaustingly on what's what and what's not about bables, from the first squall to the last tooth, what to eat and drink and wear and think

The local committee is doing everything to make the convention a success. About the first thing it did was arrange for a big beauty parlor right spang in the convention hall. Representatives of leading costumers and milliners, with samples, will be there to save the delegates running about town if they're busy, too.

On Social Calendar.

Hundreds of society affairs of every description will fill the calendar day and night. There won't be any hour of the twenty-four that a delegate can't get up and plunge right into the social whirl if she wants to. Probably the most important of these receptions will be the one at the Metropolitan Art Museum on May 25. That this institution should open its doors to a convention is unusual, and was brought about chiefly Hundreds of society affairs of every through the efforts of Mrs. John Hays

A trip up the Hudson to West Point and ar ocean trip have been arranged for the visitors. Members of the D. A. R. and of the D. of R. are arranging trips and of the D. of R. are arranging trips to historic spots. The women of Dobbs Ferry and Tarrytown will conduct trips to the Irving Sleepy Hollow district. Katherine Bement Davis, of the pardon board, formerly New York's commissioner of corrections, will take the delegates on a tour of Blackwell's Island and other notable penal institutions here. Expenses for the convention hall and convention arrangements zlone will cost the first season and the visitors, it is estimated, will spend not less than $2,000,000 in New York.

CHARGES PALLBEARER

Percy G. Mattson, whose body was found floating in the Christiana river Tuesday morning.

Handsber was a pallbearer at Mattson's funeral yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Mattson caused his arrest.

She said Handsber admitted to her that Monday night he enticed Mattson to South Wilmington and thereattacked him, knocking him out with steel knuckles and carried him to the river bank and held his head beneath the water until he was sure Mattson was dead. He then went to the home of Mattson, where he was a boarder.

Mrs. Mattson cays Handsber then proposed to her that they live together, saying he had rented a house. She declares she was under his power and was afraid to tell of the murder until after the funeral. The police found Handsber at the woman's home. He denies all knowledge of Mattson's death.

William Handsber was arrested last night charged with the murder of Percy G. Mattson, whose body was found floating in the Christiana river Tuesday morning.

Handsber was a pallbearer at Mattson's funeral yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Mattson caused his arrest.

To Present Resolution Today. A committee of five members, nominated from the floor, was appointed to assist the temporary officers in drafting a constitution and by-laws. This committee is composed of Dr. Llewellyn Jordan, of the Treasury Department; R. V. Balley, of the Department of Agriculture; Kenneth C. Clark, of the Postoffice Department; Mrs. Jennie

Monroe, of the Interior Department, and Miss Harriet H. King, of the Library of Congress.

A resolution protesting against the Borland amendment was then authorized, with instructions to the temporary president to appoint a committee of five members to draft the resolution and present it to Congress personally today.

The next meeting of the union, the last open meeting, will be held next Friday night at the National Rifles Armory, if that building can be secured, Typographical Temple being too small to hold the crowd, as was demonstrated at last night's gathering.

EMIGRATION POLICY

Will Keep Alive Spirit of Latin Culture. Patriotism, and Nationalism in U. S.

By HENRY WOOD.

ROME, Feb. 15 (by mail)-After the close of the present war all the "Little Italya" of America are to become centers of real Italian culture.

While Italy, in announcing this pending change in her emigration policy frankly admits the idea was inspired by Germany's policy toward the Ger man-Americans of the United States, yet she does not wish it understood that she has any intention of putting up Italian culture in competition with the

All she wants is to raise the standard and derive the same benefits from Italian emigrants in America that she feels Germany has derived from hers. She believes Italian culture for Italians will do what German culture has done for Germans. The present war has demonstrated the extent to which European nations in a great national crisis can depend on their sons and daughters who have The attitude of Congress toward the emigrated to the United States, for perfectly legitimate help.

With Italy's entrance into the present war, 300,000 Italians returned from the United States to fight. They gave themselves, but in few cases have they nothing more to give.

On the other hand, Italy believes that Germans in the United States, most of them prosperous, compared with the average Italian-American, have been able to do much for Germany, and she is convinced that is because Germany has for years systematically kept in close touch with them, promoting among them patriotic and other societies and keeping ever affame the fire of patriotism and nationalism.

Italy admits she has paid little attention to her sons and daughters abroad. They have formed "Little Italys" in America, neglected by Mother Italy, the spirit of Italian nationalism and culture kept alive only by some occasional Italian opera or an occasional Italian lecturer, who might happen to wander their way.

Italy's future emigration reliev to the second of the se On the other hand, Italy believes that turer, who might happen to warder their way.

Italy's future emigration policy is to have two new aspects. The first is to do everything possible to equip the emigrant before he leaves that he may win prosperity like that of the Germans, and secondly, to keep alive the spirit of Italian culture, patriotism and nationalism in every "Little Italy" in America.

tionalism in every "Little Italy" in America.

The method includes making it possible for Italian children in America to have an Italian as well as an American education. Professors are to be sent from Italy and specialists of all kinds in Italian culture are to be employed to live in these "Little Italys."

Italy has no intention of rendering her emigrants disloyal to the United States. She proposes through Italian culture to enable them to attain the same degree of material prosperity that kultur has given to the German-American.
